PROFANE LETTER CONDEMNS PRIEST AND HIS CHURCH

Pastor, However, will Take No Action Against the Writer

NAME OF OFFENDER IS KNOWN

Rev. Father Gelhoff, pastor of St. Dominec's Catholic church of Donora, on Tuesday received a letter in Slavish, w hich is regarded as one of the most profane letters ever seent through the United States mails. In this missive the writer not only condemned the pastor, but likewise the church he represents, and made the threat that the home of the priest as well as his church would be blown up by the blackhand society, of which the writer was the chief officer.

A feature in connection with the receipt of this letter is the fact that Rev. Gelhoff knows the writer of it, but says he will refuse to take any action looking toward his prosecution. The man has a wife and family, and to institute proceedings through federal authorities would likely result in a penitentiary sentence to the writer, which would take away the breadwinner of the family.

Father Gelhoff in speaking of the matter said that he would "rather stand on the steps of his church bareheaded and be shot than take any action against the man," whom he looks upon as one who has been misguided and who deserves pity rather than censure.

The letter is believed to be one of the results of the strike, in that Father Gelhoff has advised men of his church who are on a strike to remain at home and to keep out of trouble. All through this period of unrest Father Gelhoff has been giving kindly advice to members of his flock and particularly to the men who find employment in the mills. He has advised against taking any part in any riotous proceedings that might be started and has continually urged his parishioners to obey the law.

It is the opinion of friends of Father Gelhoff that the writer of the letter has been badly advised in sending the missive, but the incident will be pemitted to drop unless there be further developments.

George J. DeMarco

George J. DeMarco died at the Charleroi-Monessen hospital Tuesday afternoon at 5:45 o'clock, aged 24 years. Funeral services will be held from the Mother of Sorrows church Friday morning, with Requiem High Mass, interment in Calvary cemetery. The deceased served in the United States army in the late war as a member of Co. F, of the 210th Engineers, and got as far as London before the armistice was signed. He came to Charleroi twenty-three years ago with his parents from Philadelphia and of late years was employed as a glass worker at the Macbeth-Evans plant. He is surviveed by five brothers and two sisters. He made his home with his sister, Mrs. Bernard Spada, No. 5 Brick row.

REGULARS REPORTED PASSING UP VALLEY

It is reported from Monongahela that a whole company of a former unit of the First Division, regulars passed through that town Saturday night last, for a destination not revealed. The pullman carrying the soldiers was attached to a freight train which stopped in that city for water about nine o'clock that night. It was thought the soldiers were being taken to some point in the upper Monongahela valley, but the location could not be given.

MUST HAVE LICENSE TO SELL NEAR BEER

Constable Stablein has received the following notice from the District Attorney at Washington, the contents of which he has made known to many dealers in soft drinks in his baliwick. However, for the benefit of those whom he has been unable to see he requests the publication of the letter of instructions, as follows:

"After November 1st, 1919, all persons in Washington county who sell, or offer for sale, products of vinous, malt or brewed liquors, as "near beer," etc., containing any percentage whatsoever of alcohol, will be liable to prosecution unless they hold a license from the Court of Quarter Sessions of Washington county permitting the sale of alcoholic beverages. Under the statutes of Pennsylvania the sale of vinous, malt or brewed liquors without license is an infraction of the Brooks law, punishable by fine and imprisonment.

"You are hereby notified to stop the sale of all such beverages in your baliwick, save where they are offered by persons holding a license as above indicated, or by legitimate clubs duly chartered by the court. All stores, pool rooms, restaurants and other places known to handle such product are to be visited and the proprietors and owners thereof told to desist from such sales in the future. If they persist in such sales you should then make information against them for selling liquor without license."

The notice is signed by Isaac W. Baum, District Attorney.

FIRE DESTROYS OWL CLUB AT VANVOORHIS

Fire at an early hour Tuesday morning destroyed the Owls' club building at VanVoorhis, entailing a loss of about $6.000 The building was frame and was used as a lodge room and social parlors by the Order of Owls, while the ground floor was used as a barber shop and pool room. The Monongahela fire department was called but could render no service.

Saturday will Furnish the Biggest game of the Season

Local followers of football will see one of the best scholastic teams in this part of Pennsylvania, in action next Saturday afternoon, when the Washington High team opposes the Charleroi High at the ball park

Washington High is conceded by the dopesters of the scholastic situation to have an excellent chance to capture the honors in the Western Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic League, although the team has a very hard schedule in front of it

Washington, Monessen, Allegheny and Butler are acknowledged to be the principal contenders. Monessen was not receiving much consideration until some spirited followers of the team called attention to the record it had established thus far.

Should Washington and Monessen come down the stretch undefeated, football fans of Washington will have an opportunity of witnessing a title battle at College Field on Thanksgiving day, or at least one in which one or the other of the teams will be put out of the running.

Just now the Washington High team is being pointed for the game with Charleroi on next Saturday The county seat team realizes that the locals will put up a much stronger game than Peabody did last Saturday and consequently are not overlooking any practice that will perfect them in both offensive and defensive work.

The game this coming Saturday will probably be the most interesting played on the local grounds this season. On the 8th of November California Normal is the attraction, which is the last home game scheduled, unless some arrangements can be made for the 15th of November. The games on the 22nd and 27th of November are both away from home, the former at Monongahela, and the latter at Donora.

GUILD HOLDS AN ENJOYABLE MEETING

The Westminister Guild of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church met Tuesday evening in the Sunday school room of the church. The room was decorated with autumn leaves and flowers, and during the business session an interesting letter was read from Miss Bernice Clutter, a memger of the Guild, who is doing mission work in the mountains of North Carolina, and described the beauty of the mountains dressed in their autumn colors. Miss Bess Richey, the president, spoke of the new study book and the first chapter was discussed by Miss Emma Clutter, assisted by Miss Grace Gelder and Miss Sara Booth. The book is a description of the aoriental lands and their need of medical missionaries. Miss Margaret Gunderman contributed a piano solo. The Guild has recently increased its membership lately and there was a large attendance last evening. The hostesses were the Misses Grace and Helen Fleming and Miss Sophia Michener.

CITIZENS' MEETING HAS BEEN POSTPONED

W. R. Gaut, who was chairman of the citizens' meeting held in the public meeting room of the municipal building on Monday, and which adjourned to meet Wednesday evening, announced this morning that the proposed meeting had been adjourned until a further date.

WARNS AGAINST INFLUENCE OF REDS

The labor unions of the country are beset by radicals who would destroy them to clear the way to a class revolution, said Governor William C. Sproul in an address delivered at North Adams, Mass., Tuesday night. "Labor," he said, "as represented by the patriotic American workmen, who under sane and progressive leadership have attained so much for themselves and have served the nation so well, is engaged in a battle to preserve its organization from the radicals who would destroy them because they are in the way of their revolution. It would suit these destructionists exactly if they could get hold of the forces of public safety in this country. The municipal governments, then the state governments and finally the national government would then be easy game.

"Uproar and disorder are their opportunity. A few thousand organized cut-throats could terrorize the nation if the forces of protection were paralyzed."

Masquerade Social.

The Star class of the First Christian church will hold a masquerade social in the basement room of the church, Thursday evening, October 30. Admission 25 cents to those masked and 35 cents to those who are not. A good time is promised and a cordial invitation extended to the public to attend. 122-t3-*

LOCAL HEALTH BOARD UPHELD ON QUARANTINE REGULATIONS

SENTENCE IMPOSED ON LOTTERY TICKET AGENT

After pleading guilty to selling lottery tickets on ball games in the "New Kensington Pool," in Pittsburg last July, John Merkle of New Kensington was sentenced to 90 days in the Allegheny county workhouse and to pay the costs of the prosecution in the Allegheny county criminal courts on Tuesday. The district attorney asked for the extreme penalty as a lesson to others who conduct lotteries in the county.

ARE CHARGED WITH SURETY OF THE PEACE

A hearing was held before Justice of the Peace Paul R. Nutt, Tuesday evening, in which John Spinner, Oscar Veltz and M. G. Reynolds, all colored, and who live in Fallowfield township, a short distance below Lock Four, were defendants

The information against Spinner and Veltz charged them with pointing firearms and surety of the peace, while Reynolds is charged with wantonly discharging firearms and surety of the peace. Information against Spinner and Veltz was made by Fred Sutherland on information received and against Reynolds by Mrs. Esther Frere.

A number of witnesses were heard last evening, in which it was said that these men have been patrolling the neighborhood in which they live armed with revolvers, and ordering residents to their homes, if found on the highways after nightfall. Three young men, George Sutherland, Frank Zoretich and Reno Micholotti testified to being halted by Spinner and Veltz and ordered back to their homes; while in the case of Reynolds it is charged that while handling a shotgun Sunday night last it was discharged, and the contents going through the weatherboarding on his house and striking a porch of Mrs. Frere near by.

The case was not concluded last evening, and Justice Nutt continued it until this evening at 6:30, at which time other witnesses for the prosecution will be heard; and the defense present its side of the case. All of the colored men are employed at the Pittsburg steel mill.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY HELD TUESDAY EVENING

Miss Hazel Peters entertained about six couple at her home Tuesday evening. The affair was a Hallowe'en party. Dancing, music and games formed the diversions of the evening. Lunch was served by the hostess.

Can Close Place of Business If It Becomes Necessary

DECISION FROM STATE BOARD

The Board of Health of Charleroi, through its President, John N. O'Neil, is in receipt of a very important communication from the State Department of Health regarding certain features of the quarantine. The matter was taken up with the state department following some difficulty with a business place on Fallowfield avenue, where a contagious disease had developed in the family of the proprietor, who has his living rooms in the same building as his store.

In replying to the local board, the State Department gave the following ruling, w hich will hereafter guide them in handling all such cases in the future:

"Except for those relatively few diseases requiring absolute quarantine, it is permissible, when conditions can be properly fulfilled, to permit a store keeper to keep his place of business open, although in the same building where the disease exists. We would require him, for instance, to remain absolutely out of contact with the patient or the patient's attendant, permitting him to take up his residence elsewhere if desirable isolation could not be obtained at home; no other member of the family to be permitted at any time to enter the store for any purpose whatever.

"The problem becomes, as you have found, exceedingly complicated when dealing with foreigners and we believe the only safe way in which the proprietor might be permitted to continue business is his removal to another home during the period of quarantine at his home. Perhaps sealing the communications between the store and dwelling part of the premises should also be done.

"Failure to comply with these arrangements on the part of the storekeeper will warrant your placing an absolute quarantine on the whole house."

HOPE MINERS' STRIKE WILL BE POSTPONED

The coal situation is holding the public attention at the present time, and while the outlook is not promising, there is an optimistic feeling that some way will be found to prevent a cessation of mining. How to deal with a soft coal strike, in the event the miners walk out Friday afternoon next was definitely decided upon at a meeting of President Wilson's cabinet on Tuesday. A meeting of the leading officials of the miners' union is being held at Indianapolis today, and some action may be taken there looking toward a solving of the problem which now confronts the country.

FIGHTING A PLAGUE

Most readeers would be inclined to regard with amazement, if not disbelief, the following announcement made by Dr. William J Mayo, of Rochester, Minn., before the clinic congress of the American College of Surgeons the other day:

"One woman in nine and one man in thirteen die with cancer, and this proportion will be maintained in the enormously greater number of persons who reach the cancer age. (middle age and beyond.)"

This estimate of the extent of the ravage of cancer is suggested by the observations made and the statistics collected by Dr. Mayo, whose joint achievements with his brother in the treatment of cancer have attracted international attention.

Dr. Mayo's warning calls emphatic attention to a national problem of enormous magnitude. It brings home the imperative need for national measures. not only to devise cures but to prevent cancer in the beginning.

Science and collective effort have done much in the past half-century to prolong life, and especially to make the latter years of men and women productive The achievements in this direction are thus summarized by Dr. Mayo:

"Since the civil war fifteen years have been added to the average length of human life. With present knowledge and present conditions fifteen years more might be added to the life of men in this country within the next twenty years. It is certain that twenty years will be added to the present productive age from the standpoint of industry and will greatly aid in maintaining our position as the most production nation"

Here is a campaign worthy of the enthusiasm and the best efforts of physicians, of health authorities and of thoughtful individuals—a campaign to promote and develop agencies for the cure of cancer as well as to disseminate universally the knowledge of the causes of the national plague. Physicians all oved America are pretty well aroused to the wide appeal for the extension and perfecting of such cures of palliatives as the X-ray and radium.

What is especially needed is an intensified national campaign to instruct the American people in the methods of prevention—and these methods are so simple that there is no reason, except ignorance, why they should not be universally employed.

CLOSING UP OUR MINES.

If there is a coal strike the country will finally beat it. The fuel which is the life blood of industry is in the mines and will be lifted. The coal measure can't be long locked up.

A coal strike would be as beaten as Germany was. The miner, like the Prussian. thinks power is in his hands But it isn't. The black treasures are the public's—part of the dower of nature. No set of mine owners would be allowed arbitrarily to close them up. nor may any other set of men.

But it cost to subdue Germany. and it would cost to subdue her imitators. Millions of other workers would lose employment as wheels stopped. But they would mobolize. The instinct of self-preservation would drive them, even as it does water-crazy cattle when they scent a stream, to overwhelm all obstructions.

What would the miners gain by an [illegible] an embargo? What [illegible] gained. The savings of [illegible] would be quickly [illegible] the miners withheld [illegible] persons would not be [illegible] them something for [illegible] The miner swaps coal for [illegible] commodities Depriving him[illegible] his stock in trade, his larder [illegible] be empty. The contest [illegible] only superficially be between [illegible] mine owners and their employers. It would be a war between two great social groups, one of which is greatly in the majority and has the greater reserves of power.

If the miners have aught to complain of in the way of inadequate compensation there are means at hand to hear and adjust the grievance. Nothing in the recent record of the country suggests that the men need fear grave injustice. In view of this a threat on the fringe of winter to introduce a fuel famine is as if some malevolent agency, possessing the ability to rot the gathered harvest and to bring death to all the cattle. should declare its purpose to employ it—New York Tribune.

WHY IT IS SCARCE

Reasons for the scarcity of sugar. as well as tendency to an increase in the price of this commodity, are found in advertisements which appear in late issues of the New York papers. This refers particularly to newspapers devoted to the commercial and financial interests of the country, and which have a large clientele among men engaged in trade.

A recent issue of The Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin of New York carries a number of advertisements which are both illuminating and instructive. For instance, one advertises that he wants from one to two hundred bags of sugar for export, for which he will pay 16 cents per pound, a very nice price all of us will admit; another advertises for sugar at "your own price," certainly a very tempting offer by which to profiteer in this very necessary commodity. Other advertisements of like character appear. but these are sufficient to show to the people what is going on in eastern cities with reference to the sugar situation.

Brokers and manufacturers who are able to sell their product at a large advance over the price the general public is called upon to pay are apt to take advantage of a situation and sell at the higher figure, allowing their trade to get along on scant rations.

It looks very much as if the only thing to do under the present conditions is to prohibit export until such time as affairs assume a more normal aspect, thus allowing the people to get their sugar and in quantities for their needs, at a fair and just price.

FARMERS AND STRIKERS

Of all classes. the farmer who diversifies his crops and raises his own foodstuffs, can stand a prolonged and general strike the longest. He has simply to sit tight and wait. Somebody will be along to trade with him when it is all over. Some of his crops may rot because he cannot get them to market where they would feed the people who are hungry. But he has at least enough to eat.

A sufficient number of prolonged strikes will drive a great many people away from the bright lights and to rural life. We havn't adjusted ourselves as a people to city life. Too many of us are dissatisfied with the share which we can earn in the cities. This country as a whole is lopsided. Too many people are consuming in proportion to the number who produce.

The war drew millions away from the country. It has left millions of them in the city where living costs are mounting. So they are unhappy and striking. We would not be surprised if a general movement of back to the farm would be recommended as one of the remedies for the high cost of living, for every man that would return to the country and produce from his own garden or small acreage would relieve the country just that much of one who heretofore had been a consumer.

AIR SERVICE TO COAST

The ocean- to- ocean air race has demonstrated the practicability of a coast-to-coast air mail service, and we are assured that unless all plans go astray we shall have such a scheme in operation by next spring or summer. Indeed. a bill looking to such a service had been introduced in the House of Representatives before the translantic race began. The air mail lines are now working satisfactorily between New York and Washington and between New York and Chicago, although the finances of the Postoffice Department will not permit any extensions of the service until next year. But Assistant Postmaster General Praeger is authority for the statement that the activity of the army in these air races has greatly advanced the movement for a coast-to-coast air mail service.

Among other things the department has obtained much valuable information as to meterological conditions, landing fields, and more than all "the intense interest of the people." Citizens residing in the cities along the lines of the recent flight have sent urgent appeals that the transatlantic air mail be established as soon as possible. That it is bound to come will be admitted by all who have given the question thoughtful study, but that it should come so soon was not anticipated by even the most enthusiastic readers and followers of the late Jules Verne.

JUDGE BUFFINGTON'S ADVICE

In an open letter to coal miners of foreign birth, who have been naturalized in his courts, Judge Buffington, of the United States Circuit Court issued on Monday, said among other things:

"I know you want to do what is right, and you ask yourselves, 'What shall we do? Shall we follow the order that comes from Mr. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, or the order that comes from Mr. Wilson, president of the United States? Shall we follow the order from Indianapolis, break the contract our officers made with Uncle Sam and make our contract a scrap of paper, or shall we follow the advice of Mr. Wilson and stay at work?

"I know you value your citizenship papers more than anything you have I want you to think about Washington and Lincoln. George Washington served his country in the Revolutionary war for six years without pay, so that there might be such a thing as American citizenship. Abraham Lincoln gave his life without money and without price that American citizenship should not end. Can you doubt if the spirits of these just men. made perfect, Washington and Lincoln, were counseling with you today, they would tell you as I do? Set your face sternly toward Washington and follow the advice of Woodrow Wilson, your President."

DAYLIGHT SAVING

The present weeks marks the end of national "daylight saving." It is a great pity. The persistent fight which the President made for the perpetation of that beneficient reform will long be remembered as by no means the least of his services or intended services to the nation. Of course. we decline for a moment to believe that the ill-advised action of Congress in abolishing the system will prove final, or even of long standing. The people of this nation will simply insist upon the permanent restoration of a system which was singularly efficient for their welfare not only physically but also mentally and morally, which resulted. on the most practical grounds, in greater profit and less loss than any comparable reform ever devised.—Harvey's Weekly.

Up in New Castle the retail price of pork has taken quite a drop in the last few days. Pork, which retailed at 38 cents a pound and more until recently. is now retailing at from 22 to 35 cents a pound. The farmers are said to be flooding the market with pork in order to avoid feeding the pigs through the coming winter on high priced grain. This would indicate that the h. c. l. has received one jolt which may materially assist in bringing down other food products.

Government authorities arrested a wholesale grocer in Scranton on Monday on a charge of hoarding sugar It is alleged that this dealer is holding 35,000 pounds of sugar with a view of creating a scarcity and then obtaining a higher price. It is further alleged that he had already sold in large lots at 15 and 19 cents per pound, when the government rate is but 9 cents. He was held for a hearing.

Governor Sproul, in a telegram to Attorney General Palmer, says that Pennsylvania endorses the stand of the President in his attitude toward the pending coal strike. Governor Sproul in his telegram said that President Wilson may count on the Pennsylvania government in any plans he may feel necessary to make in meeting the emergency.

Official announcement has been made that the rail mill at Gary, Ind., had resumed operations on Monday. This mill is regarded as the most important in the Gary group Another blast furnace also resumed, making a total of eight out of the twelve that are now in operation. Mill officials say the strike is virtually over at that plant.

The champion mean man has been found in Fayette county. He was before criminal court at Uniontown a few days ago, charged with robbing a blind man of $380. and then spending the money in buying whiskey at exorbitant prices. He got two years to the workhouse.

Great Britain is over four billion dollars in debt to the United States, and we are all willing to concede that this is some debt. It also shows that wars are expensive propositions, but they are events which occur with great frequency in the affairs of the world.

PASTOR SCORES SUNDAY SPORTS

Monongahela pastors are somewhat wrought up over the playing of football on Sunday, a form of amusement which has been attracting hundreds of spectators every time a game is scheduled. The games are played on the Monongahela Driving ark, and the gridiron is located just outside the city limit.

Last Sunday the Rev. Mr. McKee, pastor of the Presbyteran church, delivered a sermon on "Americanization," in which he scored those who participated in the game, but also stated that those who attended were equally guilty, as were merchants who by window advertising and other means assisted in promoting the game, or in any other way contributed to the practice.

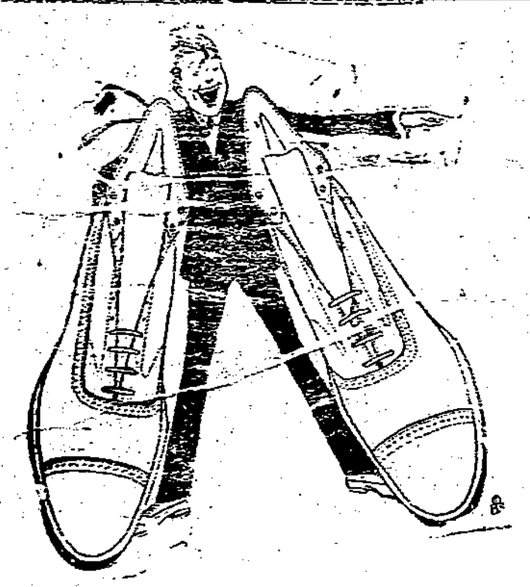

No effort is being made to conceal the fact that football games are to be played. They are advertised several days prior to the game, and large posters are placed conspicuously about the city; members of the team loaf about the streets of the town before the game in their uniforms and then all march to the grounds, apparently without the least fear of interference from township or county authorities.

GAME WILL BE A BATTLE OF COACHES

When Slippery Rock Normal locks horns with California Normal gridiron heroes at California Saturday of this week a pretty fight of the friendly sort between coaches is promised. Coach "Nemo" Kerr Thompson of Slippery Rock and Coach Ray Seaman of California played side by side for two years at Ursinus, Thompson at tackle and Seaman at end. Following Thompson's graduation Seaman succeeded him in the Captaincy of the team. It is therefore a perfectly safe bet that nothing would please either of them better than pulling something over on the other. In fact it is a sort of open secret that they have both been planning for this particular battle for weeks.

Three suucessive victories for the California team has bred an amount of confidence which may not be justified by the facts. Coach Thompson of Slippery Rock was for two years All-American choice and was an aggressive, heady player. He has proven himself to me a mighty successful and resourceful coach and the Slippery Rock team is coming strong. On the other hand the California team has never yet displayed its possible strength on the field this year. Coach Seaman has not yet opened up his full bag of tricks but will probably have to do so Saturday. Barring accident the California bunch should be at its maximum strength Saturday. This will be the only game with a sister Normal School played at California this season and will undoubtedly prove a real treat for all the foot-ball fans.

The Slippery Rock squad will spend Saturday night as the guests of the California Normal and in the evening will be entertained at a Hallowe'en Masquerade given by the local student body

WASHINGTON HIGH A STRONG CONTENDER

The Washington Observer says that in the rejoicing of the victory of W. & J. over Syracuse, the excellent showing of the Washington High School athletes at College Field last Saturday, when they eliminated Peabody, touted contenders for the scholastic honors, in a most decisive manner, has been overlooked by many fans.

The 1919 Blue and Black eleven seems to be the most evenly balanced team that has ever represented Washington High. With a strong defense that has not cracked at any time this year the Washington boys, also, have a whirlwind attack and use it with a judgement not equalled by many college teams.

The game last Saturday afternoon attracked almost 2,000 persons to College Field. Many of them were close followers of football and they were all loud in their praise of the Blue and Black team. If Coach Day can keep his boys from becoming overconfident, they promise to make a clean sweep this season and be the real contenders for the championship of the W. P. I. A. L.

The Washington High will play the Charleroi High at the local athletic park next Saturday afternoon, when local followers of the game will have an opportunity to see this machine at work. They are now pointing for the contest and Coach Day expects to have his men in good shape for the contest.

LOCAL DONATIONS LARGE TO CHARITY

Catholic congregations of Washington county made an excellent showing in the campaign conducted last week to raise $500,000 for the benefit of the charities conducted in the Pittsburg diocese. The goal set in the diocese was exceeded by over $200,000. The St. Charles church of Donora led in this county with $7,120.03. The Mother of Sorrows church of Charleroi raised $200; St. Dominick, Donora, $185.50; St. Jerome's, Charleroi, $3,005.88, and Transfiguration, Monongabela, $782.75.

RECOUNT CHANGES DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE

A recount of the ballots in Somerset township, upon petition of Walter Carson, who was defeated by one vote for the Democratic nomination for supervisor, has resulted in Mr. Carson being declared the winner by one vote over H. A. Preston, who was according to the returns one vote in the lead. The recount and the change in the vote will require the reprinting of the Somerset township ballots, as on them Mr Carson is given as the Democratic candidate for supervisor.

The official count gave Mr. Preston 11 votes, and Mr. Carson 10. On the recount Mr. Carson gained seven votes and Mr. Preston five. This took the nomination away from the latter.

MEXICO'S MANY "LOST" MINES

Operators and Prospectors Driven From Their Work by Threats and Depredations of Yaquis.

Many of the lost mines of Mexico were the result of depredations of the Yaqui Indians. They killed or drove prospectors from the country and obliterated marks of the workings. Thus many mines, with great possibilities, were lost.

One of the mines of the Estrella del Norte Mining company was lost for many years. The only clue to its location was found on an old Jesuit map, which said it could be seen by looking from a church door. The church was found and the land dug up as far as could be seen from the door, but no trace of the mine was found. Later, after the search was discontinued, a wall that had been built at a date later than the map, fell down and exposed another door. Men with field glasses, looking from this door, discovered the old mine.

Many of the churches of Mexico that cause the world to wonder, because of their architecture and priceless ornaments, owe their existence to mines. The Baroyeca church, built in 1792, was built from the wealth derived from the Mina Grande mine, in Baroyeca mountain. Prior to 1850 the walls were lined with sheets of pure silver from the mine. The candelabra, the altar rails and other parts of the sanctuary were of silver, and the altar vessels were of pure gold.

GROWTH OF HOSPITAL IDEA

Value of Such Institutions in American Eyes Is Shown by Their Astounding Growth.

Figures in a recent official report to the United States department of labor show the astounding growth of the hospital idea in this country during the last half-century. In 1873—less than 50 years ago—there were in the United States only 149 hospitals; today there are nearly 9,100—an increase of nearly 6,000 per cent in the number of institutions. In 1873 the total capacity of the then-existing hospitals was 35,458; today the hospitals of the country have a total capacity of approximately 869,000 beds—an increase of over 1,000 per cent. The amount of money at present invested in these institutions is roughly estimated at nearly $2,000,000,000; the annual expediture for supplies, equipment, upkeep and new construction is said to be about $750,000,000.

There is much that is gratifying in these enormous totals, says an editorial in the Modern Hospital. Certainly, no stronger testimony could be adduced to show that the people of the United States are thoroughly converted to the hospital idea, and do not mean to be deprived of the benefits of hospital care.

Paper Has But One Subscriber.

It has been the inflexible custom in the imperial family of Japan, says a writer in East and West News, to withhold all newspapers and magazines from its members until they attain their eighteenth year, but the rule was waived in the case of Hirohito, the present crown prince. Four months before his imperial highness entered upon his eighteenth year he was allowed to begin reading a specially prepared journal.

This curious newspaper was edited by an official of the imperial household and printed in the imperial printing office. It was set in special type and printed on thick Japanese paper. The reading of it did not require a great deal of time, for it was of small size and on a single sheet.

Very Much Convalescent.

Helen had the whooping cough, and so was not invited to her little friend Margaret's birthday party, though the list included all the other children in the neighborhood. On the morning of the affair the telephone girl might have overheard the following conversation:

"Hello."

"Hello, is this Margaret Hillfield's house?"

"Yes."

"Is this you Margaret?"

"Yes. Who is this?"

"This is Helen Marten. You are going to have a birthday party today, aren't you?"

"Yes."

"Well, say, Margaret. I'm all over the whooping cough now."

The name "tenderloin" was originally applied in New York city to the nineteenth police precinct. The credit of naming it is attributed to Capt. Alexander Williams, who was placed in command of the precinct September 30, 1876. When he took charge he was asked how he liked the change. "Great," was the response. "I've come from a rump district (an east side district) to the tenderloin," and tenderloin it has remained ever since. The newspapers of other cities soon followed the example of the New York journals in so designating similar districts of their own cities.

The Jazz Spirit.

Waverly—Gerty Giddigad is crazy over jazz music.

Marcella—Indeed.

"Yes, I learned that when I took her on a sight-seeing trip through the biggest boiler shop in town the other day."

"I don't get the connection."

"As soon as we entered the door and Gerty heard the terrific din she grabbed my arm and said, 'Gee, let's tango.'"—Youngstown Telegram.

MEXICO'S WEALTH OF SILVER

Aroused Greed of Conquerors and Brought Only Bondage and Misery to the People.

Mexico has produced a steady stream of silver ever since its conquest by Cortez in 1519. But while the supply seemed inexhaustible, it brought more misery than happiness to the nation, in the opinion of the Salt Lake Tribune, because it afforded the incentive to bring conquerors to its shores to enslave the people.

The Spaniards robbed and enslaved the Aztecs to control the silver supply. They blotted out a semi-barbarous civilization that had built great irrigation systems, massive temples and beautiful cities, and the once proud and happy people were placed under the yoke for four centuries.

An almost uncanny gift in ferreting out the big silver deposits was possessed by the Spanish governors. The cost of gunpowder was so high, though, that only the richest finds were worked. Only ore that produced over 100 ounces of silver to the ton was mined. It is said that the owner of the Quintera mine, in the Alamos district, a Senor Alamada, on the marriage of his daughter, lined the bridal chamber of the palacio with bars of silver and paved the way to the church with the metal.

Large profits are made from demolishing some of the old houses in the Chihuahua district, and reducing the material in them for silver. The natives who built them used to use the run of mine slag, in the absence of cheaper building material, and much valuable ore went into the buildings.

KEEP KNOCKED-OUT TEETH

Dentist Can Replace Them in Mouth So That They Will Soon Give Good Service.

When one's front teeth are knocked out there is no need to leave them on the floor, for they can be reinserted very well by a good dentist. Dr. H. M. Savery tells in the Lancet (London) of two cases in which the teeth were completely dislocated from their sockets.

In one case the teeth were placed in salt water while the dentist carefully washed out the sockets. Then they were reinserted, a stitch or two placed in the gums and the jaws were bandaged shut so that the teeth bit on a pad of lint. In the other case the teeth still hung to the gums, so the sockets were cleaned out without detaching the teeth.

In both cases the teeth became solidly fixed and the patients could use them for normal biting a few months after the accident.

Dr. C. De Witt Henry of New York replaced not long ago the teeth of a truck driver that had been knocked out in a collision. The man had picked his teeth from the gutter and run up to the dentist's office carrying them in his hand.

World's Largest Vaults.

In the underground vaults of the new United States assay office, the cornerstone of which was laid recently in New York, can be stored more than $20,000,000,000 in gold. They are said to be the largest and finest in the world, according to Popular Mechanics magazine. Five of the eight stories of the building will be located beneath the surface of the earth. Sealed in the cornerstone of the structure are copies of several newspapers; a medal on which there is a portrait of the president, and a bag containing a set of United States coins ranging in value from one cent to $20, besides other articles of interest and value. The building will cost over $800,000.

Reduced His Conceit.

He was eaten up with a mistaken consciousness of his own importance, and when he was making his speech in the Muddlecombe mock parliament he noted that one of the local newspaper men appeared to be sketching him. When the house adjourned he buttonholed the artist.

"I believe—aw—you were—aw—sketching me; isn't that so?" he inquired.

"That is so," replied the artist.

"Well—aw—would you tell me what newspaper you—aw—represent?"

"I represent no newspaper," answered the artist. "I design comic postcards."—London Tit-Bits.

A gilt clock and other articles were stolen thirty-nine years ago from a mansion near Wokingham, Eng., where the marquis and marchioness of Downshire resided then. Recently a man saw a spike protruding from the side of a stump of a tree that had been felled. Thinking this unusual, he looked into the stump and found the long-lost clock, rusty but intact, and some photograph frames in filigree work—the thief's hoard. A local watchmaker identified the clock and is now cleaning and restoring it.

Second Hand.

"What a lovely Dutch landscape!" exclaimed the admiring visitor. "You've been to Holland, of course?"

"Why, no," answered the artist, modestly.

"Then how were you ever able to paint such a realistic picture?"

"To tell the truth, I copied it off a beer mug."—Birmingham Age-Herald.
